

ONE REPUBLIC

March 4, 2013. OneRepublic is a band of five completely different guys, who somehow manage to get along. That's what artist Willo Perron, who worked on the album art for OneRepublic's upcoming record Native, said after having one dinner with them.

He was asked to follow the band for three months, to become a fly on the wall and figure out what the common thread was between the guys since they couldn't for the life of them figure it out themselves. Read more on radio.com and view the interview video.

The new album "Native" in stores and online March 26th*

New Single "If I Lose Myself" available on iTunes now

Watch a behind the scenes of the single from Santorini, Greece

*March 25th in UK

Pre Order the New Album

“Native”
