

EBONY Magazine Celebrates the Life of Michael Jackson with Exclusive Commemorative Book

100 pages of never-before-seen photos, celebrity tributes and 5,000 words from the KING of POP!

Quincy Jones, Berry Gordy, Ne-Yo, Rev. Al Sharpton, Smokey Robinson, Rev. Jesse Jackson, Suzanne de Passe and many others shared their inner-most thoughts on the late King of Pop in EBONY magazine's MICHAEL: IN HIS OWN WORDS.

Scheduled for release the week of July 13, the exclusive commemorative book will feature never-before-seen photos of Michael, his family and many others along with various stories from those who truly loved him. "Michael was a genius. Michael was a researcher. He'd study, study, study. He was one of the greatest listeners I know," said Berry Gordy, founder of Motown.

As the world's largest Black magazine, EBONY has documented the superstar's life since the beginning of his phenomenal career with thousands of photos and countless articles. For the first time EBONY has opened the archives like never before to help celebrate Michael Jackson's incredible legacy.
