TICKETS ON SALE FRIDAY, JUNE 24 - Click HERE for tour tickets

LOS ANGELES – Jeff Beck, guitarist extraordinaire and rock icon, who recently captured three more Grammy® Awards at the 2011 ceremony in Los Angeles, announces the launch of a fall Canadian tour starting on October 12th in Halifax, Nova Scotia and finishing on October 27th in Vancouver. In addition, four U.S. dates are scheduled for the great Northwest immediately following the Canadian portion, starting in Seattle on October 28th and wrapping up in the wine country of Napa on November 1st.

It has been quite a remarkable two years for the legendary artist, starting with his second induction into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in April 2009 where Beck joined a very elite group of double inductees. Following in January 2010, Beck made a jaw-dropping Grammy appearance with the Irish singing sensation, Imelda May, in a duet of the Les Paul classic, "How High the Moon", a tribute to Beck's hero. In early February 2010, Beck joined Eric Clapton for an exclusive, limited string of co-headlining dates in the UK, New York and Canada.

In what is easily one of the most anticipated reunions of the current decade, Beck and Rod Stewart are currently working towards what hopes to become a new album.

As an 8-time Grammy Award winner, Jeff Beck is one of the UK's leading artists and one of the most influential lead guitarists in rock history. His playing style continues to break new ground and reflects the eclectic musical mix that is his trademark. His live shows and virtuoso solos have become something of legend and the list of musicians he plays with similarly reflects his commitment to the best of the best.
