

Incubus

Incubus New Tour, HQ Live and Video "Promises, Promises"!

IF NOT NOW WHEN? US Tour is kicking off summer 2011 and Incubus brings new music to the stage with "Promises, Promises!"

Click HERE for tickets on Ticketmaster

June 30 marks the official launch of "Incubus HQ Live". For 7 days (6/30 – 7/06) Incubus will be inviting fans in the Los Angeles area to an undisclosed location for the most unique, personal and up-close fan experience imaginable! In "Incubus HQ Live" the web meets reality; it's where web technology combines with fan-to-band interaction complete with impromptu live sets, live web streams, instructional clinics, and full performances from the band all being captured in a real-time documentary.

The "Incubus HQ Live" space will be equipped with multiple LiveStream cameras that will capture all of the action and stream it while it's happening for fans around the world. Other camera angles will include fly-on-the-wall perspectives, hand-held cameras and even some of the band members could hop behind the lens. Basically, anything is possible and anything can happen!

Fans are also invited to contribute to this living and breathing art instillation via message boards, fan generated photo uploads and Twitter updates that will be projected on the walls of the space for the band and fans to see.

"Incubus HQ Live" will be open daily from 10am - 6pm PDT, where various members of the band will be present during the day. Fans in the Los Angeles area can schedule hour long sessions to walk through the space and possibly interact with their favorite Incubus band members. For more information, and to make an appointment visit www.incubushqlive.com.

Tickets for the show are $20 cash and are only available at the venue box office. To avoid disruption to the local businesses during the day no lineups will be allowed before 5P. Doors open at 7P and the show will start around 10P.

Check out the latest updates on Incubus News