

THE DIRTY HEADS

August 2, 2012 -- As THE DIRTY HEADS' co-headlining tour with Matisyahu continues to make its way across America, the Southern California band has teamed up with their tour mate for “Dance All Night,” the second single from their Top 20 album CABIN BY THE SEA, which was globally released June 19 on Five Seven Music. The band’s second album debuted at #18 on Billboard’s “Top 200 Albums” chart (their highest chart position to date), #3 on the “Independent Albums” chart, #4 on the “Alternative Albums” chart and #9 on the “Digital Albums” chart.

“Dance All Night” (which can be heard on the band’s YouTube page is the follow-up to “Spread Too Thin,” which debuted on Billboard’s “Alternative Songs” chart at #13 with a cumulative audience of over 40 million listeners. A video for the song can be seen here , while the “Dance

All Night" clip will be released in the coming weeks.

In a review of "Dance All Night," Diffuser.fm's Joe Robinson wrote: "...the collaboration may seem spiritually a bit out of whack — but musically it totally makes sense... 'Crushed it' are the words of (singer Jared) Watson and not necessarily ones that should show up in a review of one of the band's own songs, but we're including them because he's dead-on right."

Now comes word that THE DIRTY HEADS' smash hit "Lay Me Down," from their critically acclaimed ANY PORT IN A STORM debut album (released via the Executive Music Group label via Fontana/Universal), has been certified Gold. The song spent 11 weeks at #1 on Billboard's "Alternative Songs" chart, holding the record for the longest reign at #1 for an indie label and remained in the chart's history. It remained in the Top 12 for another 39 weeks after that. And the song has been heard over 250,000 times on radio stations across the U.S. The album itself has sold nearly 200,000 copies nationwide.

The press is saying:

"Summer 2012 officially has its soundtrack." – A-Sides with Jon Chattman, Huffington Post

"The song that really struck a chord with me was 'Spread Too Thin' because I think everyone can relate to being pulled in many directions every day and wanting to just slow down for a minute and this album allows you to take a break and do just that. Obviously this was intended to take my worries away and make everyone feel great. Cabin is the perfect summer album." – TheDeadHub.com
