

Friday, April 29, 2011. Taking Back Sunday takes the Bank of America Stage by storm at West Palm Beach's SunFest raging their alternative rock hits "A Decade Under the Influence", "You're So Last Summer" and "Where You Want To Be."

Fan's got a sneak preview of songs from Taking Back Sunday's forthcoming album self-titled "Taking Back Sunday." Debuting this June, the new album is that like the 2004 follow-up "Where You Want To Be" and 2006's "Louder Now" which reached Gold status. Rejoining long term members Adam Lazzara (vocals), Eddie Reyes (guitar) and Mark O'Connell (drums) are John Nolan (guitar/vocals) and Shaun Cooper (bass), who left the band in 2003 to form Straylight Run.

Click HERE for Taking Back Sunday official website

Taking Back Sunday is touring extensively in the US. Click HERE for tickets on Ticketmaster!

Taking Back Sunday Rocks Sunfest

Last Updated Monday, 12 September 2011 10:04

photos by Sally Rosen Official Fan Club, Inc.